Conditions of Sale

[1]

All bids are to be PER LOT as numbered in the catalogue.

[2]

The highest bidder to be the buyer. In all cases of disputed bids the lot shall be resold, but the auctioneer will use his judgment as to the good faith of all claims, and his decision shall be final.

[3]

Any bid which is not commensurate with the value of the article offered, or which is merely a nominal or fractional advance, may be rejected by the auctioneer if in his judgment such bid would be likely to affect the sale injuriously.

[4]

The name of the buyer of each lot shall be given immediately after the sale thereof, and when so required, each buyer shall sign a card giving the lot number, amount for which sold, and his or her name and address. ¶ A deposit at the actual time of the sale shall be made of all or such part of the purchase prices as may be required. ¶ If the two foregoing conditions are not complied with, the lot or lots so purchased may at the option of the auctioneer be put up again and resold.

[5]

Title passes upon the fall of the auctioneer's hammer, and thereafter the property is at the purchaser's risk, and neither the owner nor the Company is responsible for the loss of, or any damage to any article by theft, fire, breakage, however occasioned, or any other cause whatsoever.

[6]

Articles not paid for in full and not called for by the purchaser by noon of the day following that of the sale may be turned over by the Company to some carter to be carried to and stored in some warehouse until the time of the delivery therefrom to the purchaser, and the cost of such cartage and storage and any other charges will be charged against the purchaser, and the risk of loss or damage occasioned by such removal or storage will be upon the purchaser. ¶ In any instance where the bill has not been paid in full by noon of the day following that of the sale, the Company reserves the right, any other stipulation in these conditions of sale to the contrary notwithstanding, in respect to any or all lots included in the bill, at its option, either to cancel the sale thereof or to resell the same at public or private sale without further notice for the account of the buyer and to hold the buyer responsible for any deficiency sustained in so doing.

[B]

[7]

Unless the sale is advertised and announced as an unrestricted sale, or a sale without reserve, owners reserve the right to bid.

[8]

All books are sold as catalogued, and are assumed to be in good SECOND-HAND condition. If material defects are found, not mentioned in the catalogue, the lot may be returned. Notice of such defects must be given promptly and the goods returned within ten days from the date of sale. No exceptions will be made to this rule. Magazines and other periodicals, and all miscellaneous books arranged in parcels, are sold as they are, WITHOUT RECOURSE.

¶ All Autograph Letters, Documents, Manuscripts and Bindings are sold as they are, without recourse. The utmost care is taken to authenticate and correctly describe items of this character, but neither the owner nor the Company will be responsible for errors, omissions or defects of any kind.

[9]

Buying or bidding by the Company for responsible parties on orders transmitted to it by mail, telegraph, or telephone, if conditions permit, will be faithfully attended to without charge. Any purchases so made will be subject to the foregoing conditions of sale. Orders for execution by the Company should be given with such clearness as to leave no room for misunderstanding. Not only should the lot number be given, but also the title, and bids should be stated to be so much for the lot. If the one transmitting the order is unknown to the Company, a deposit must be sent or reference submitted. Shipping directions should also be given.

[10]

All articles sold will be subject, in addition to the purchase price, to the New York City Sales Tax to be paid by the purchaser, unless the purchaser delivers to the Company the requisite certificate that the article was purchased for re-sale.

[11]

The Company will afford every facility for the employment of carriers and packers by the purchasers, but will not be responsible for any damage arising from the acts of such carriers and packers.

EXCEPT BY AN OFFICER OF THE COMPANY]

Foreword

IN considering the matter of a foreword for the catalogue of Lucius Hubbard's collection of Americana the question that his daughter asks herself is what her father would have wished her to say. He would have been the first to deprecate a eulogy of any sort, and yet it is impossible for one who had the privilege of fifty-seven years' acquaintance with him not to wish those who are interested in his books to know something of the man. Quiet, gentle, unassuming as he was, even his family had small notion of his achievements. Patiently, perseveringly, persistently he pursued his various purposes, whether it was the study of Indian place-names in Maine, the identification of volcanic rock in Germany, the determination of the most minute variations in shells on the Gulf of Mexico, or the discovery of consistently worn type that enabled him to throw new light on the early editions of "Robinson Crusoe" and "Gulliver's Travels". Eager for knowledge, he first collected books extensively to satisfy that eagerness; then the scientist asserted itself and he brought a scientifically trained mind to bear on bibliographical subjects and published exhaustive treatises on his findings. A seeker after truth, it mattered little to him that his books had a limited circulation.

The administration of my father's estate has been a very great privilege. It has revealed to me not only the tangible products of a hobby such as book-collecting, but the by-products, as it were: the warm, enduring friendships that a common enthusiasm can foster, even though letters might be the only means of communication.

To each of his three daughters my father left the nucleus of a book collection. How eloquently that fact expressed his hope that his gift might encourage them to cultivate a hobby that might enrich their lives as his had been enriched!

What better message can this foreword carry than the wish that some of the books here catalogued may bring a new interest into the life of a new collector and that others may increase the deep satisfaction of those already veterans in this fascinating game?

A SUPERB COPY OF THE VERY RARE ORIGINAL EDITION OF THE FIRST FOUR VOYAGES OF CHAMPLAIN TO AMERICA IN 1604, 1610, 1611, AND 1613. The large folding map is in facsimile.

The map facing p. 160 was THE FIRST ATTEMPT TO LAY DOWN THE LATITUDE AND LONGITUDE ON ANY MAP OF THE COAST. The last word in its title has been re-engraved to "meridiem" from "moricha". The chart on p. 9 is the corrected form and is not pasted over an impression of the one on the preceding page.

PLATES. The plate showing Champlain's fight with the Indians in 1607 on or about the present site of Ticonderoga, is the EARLIEST ENGRAVED VIEW OF ANY LOCALITY OR EVENT IN THE STATE OF NEW YORK. Other plates show the French surprised by the savages, and an Iroquois fort.

This work deals not only with the natural history, the fauna and flora, but with the character of the soil and its numerous products; it is unusually minute in details touching the natives. Winsor states that in this last respect it is especially valuable, as at that period neither their manners, customs, nor mode of life had been modified by intercourse with Europeans.

[Colophon:] Romae in aedibus F. Minitii Calvi, 1524

THE SECOND ROME EDITION OF THE FIRST PUBLISHED ACCOUNT OF MAGELLAN'S VOYAGE DURING WHICH HE DISCOVERED THE STRAIT THAT BEARS HIS NAME. The Church Catalogue lists but five copies besides the one it describes.

There are two issues of this edition, a point apparently unrecorded. In this copy the penultimate line of the title reads "Hemisphaerii, unde ad nos tandē", as in the copy in the New York Public Library. In the copies described by both Church and HARRISSE the line reads "Hemisphaerii, qua ad nos tandem". Priority of issue is not determined.

Magellan sailed on August 10, 1519, and issued from the strait which bears his name on October 18, 1520, entering the ocean which he named "Pacific". Proceeding westward, he reached the Philippines, where he engaged in a war with the natives which cost him his life. The expedition continued under the command of Juan Sebastian Del Cano, and finally landed at Seville on September 6, 1522.

When Del Cano went to report to the Emperor his report was written by a young man at court, Maximilianus Transylvanus, who sent it to his father, the Archbishop of Salzburg. This earliest narrative of the voyage was printed in Cologne in January, 1523, and the present edition in Rome in February, 1524.

Venetia: Per Francesco Marcolini, 1558

THE RARE FIRST EDITION, of which the Church Catalogue locates but six copies. The original Zeni map is missing, but in its place is the RARE MAP reproduced in the Ptolemy of 1561 or 1562, which so far differed from the Zeni map as to separate Greenland from Norway.

Among the pre-Columbian discoverers of America, the Zeni brothers occupy perhaps the most prominent place. It is claimed for them that in the year 1380 they visited several islands, among them Iceland and Greenland. The account of these voyages first appeared in this volume, which was published anonymously but which appears to have been compiled by Nicolò Zeno the younger. It has given rise to much controversy, some maintaining that it is a fabrication and others that it contains the results of actual discoveries.

From the Edward N. Crane library, with bookplate.
